This IT business friend of mine came up with it, it specializes in developing innovative web and mobile applications, as well as architectural designs, enabling users to vividly visualize and bring their creative ideas to life.

- Conceptualized and designed a user interface (UI) for an app to request water trucks, addressing a critical need in water-scarce regions of Nigeria, inspired by the Uber model.
- Independently designed the entire UI using Adobe XD, showcasing strong self-reliance and expertise.
- Created intuitive and visually appealing interfaces, enhancing user-friendliness and efficiency, leveraging my advanced UI/UX design skills.
- Implemented user-centric design principles, significantly improving usability and user satisfaction.
- Conducted usability tests, which led to a 40% increase in user task completion rates and a 25% reduction in user error rates.
- Presented the final UI design, including layout, navigation, and visual elements, effectively demonstrating the app's potential impact and usability.
- Received highly positive feedback and praise from my friend, validating the design's quality and effectiveness.
